

Introduction to Agriculture

Hi! Welcome to Intro to Agriculture with your instructor Holly. Agriculture is a large part of our society as it's the jobs that feed our families. Because of farmers, we have food on our plates and things to drink. Everything we see at the store is thanks to a farmer.

With Intro to Ag, we'll start by learning about different types of animals that are found on a farm. Using a diversified farm, we'll learn the basics for types of animals, their care, and their lifecycle. We'll talk about housing, feeding, and even medicating animals on a farm.

Some animal examples that will be included are chickens, quail, emu, donkeys, cows, horses, goats, pigs, and even a kangaroo! I will take you through the daily life of a farmer and how we create an amazing life for ourselves, our community, and our animals.

We will also talk about growing our food using different methodologies. We can grow our own food in our backyards. Using reusable items and even some foods you may have in your home, we'll talk about growing our food to feed ourselves and our families! From greenhouses to growing in the house, we'll cover it all!
